

Almost time. Only a few sleeps to go....

Phew! We made it and only a few days to go. The children are very excited. Excitement is in the air and even this bah humbug head teacher is getting into party mood.

Mrs. Wormleighton is far away in St. Lucia taking some well deserved unpaid leave with her husband who has taken part in a very exciting yacht race.

The school has a very festive air and today is Christmas dinner day. This is a good point to thank and celebrate our first term of Universal Free School Meals. Mrs Bradshaw and her team and Mrs Hemming and her team have made it work so well Thank you from us all.

Special points of interest:

- 19.12.14
School ends at 3.10
- 19.12.14

- 06.01.15
Children return

Christmas performances

The performances were so good this year. I have been fortunate to see many of them and on behalf of the children I would like to thank all of the staff for their hard work. The singing was good, the children had a wonderful experience and each performance has something special about it.

Christmas in Romania

Our sponsored child in Romania will be spending a different Christmas to us. She still has no electricity or toilet and she will go to bed very early and sleep close to the dogs and other animals her family have to keep her warm. It can be very cold in Romania and the only heating is a stove in the corner of the room which uses wood as fuel. On Christmas day she will receive a sack of smiles from the Smiles Foundation and she will go to church, If she is very lucky she will have pork for Christmas dinner but Maria Crenguta's life is very different to ours. We wish her a Merry Christmas!!

Merry Christmas and every good wish for the New Year

I want to take this opportunity to work the staff from the children for all of the amazing work they do during the year. We would all like to take the opportunity to wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a very prosperous and happy New Year.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 150-200 words.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers. A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics but try to keep your articles short. Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Publisher offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally,

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing. Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 75-125 words.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content to your newsletter.

Think about your article and ask yourself if the picture supports or enhances the message you're trying to convey. Avoid selecting images that appear to be out of context.

Microsoft Publisher includes thousands of clip art images from which you can choose and import into your newsletter. There are also several tools you can use to draw shapes and symbols.

Once you have chosen an image, place it close to the article. Be sure to place the caption of the image near the image.

Organization

Business Tagline or Motto

This would be a good place to insert a short paragraph about your organization. It might include the purpose of the organization, its mission, founding date, and a brief history. You could also include a brief list of the types of products, services, or programs your organization offers, the geographic area covered (for example, western U.S. or European markets), and a profile of the types of customers or members served.

It would also be useful to include a contact name for readers who want more information about the organization.

Back Page Story Headline

This story can fit 175-225 words.

If your newsletter is folded and mailed, this story will appear on the back. So, it's a good idea to make it easy to read at a glance.

A question and answer session is a good way to quickly capture the readers attention. You can either compile questions that you've received since the last edition or you can summarize some generic questions that are frequently asked about your organization.

A listing of names and titles of managers in your organization is a good way to give your newsletter a personal touch. If your organization is small, you may want to list the names of all employees.

If you have any prices of standard products or services, you can include a listing of those here. You may want to refer your readers to any other forms of communication that you've created for your organization.

You can also use this space to remind readers to mark their calendars for a regular event, such as a breakfast meeting for vendors every third Tuesday of the month, or a biannual charity auction.

If space is available, this is a good place to insert a clip art image or some other graphic.
