Happy Easter

A holiday again! Do not forget we break up tomorrow until 15th April. I am writing this looking out at the snow and I hope it has disappeared by the time the newsletter reaches you and that we can enjoy some Spring sunshine over the break.

Thank you very much for your support for Red Nose Day. We have sent a cheque for over four hundred and thirty pounds and this is the largest amount we have collected for a long time. I was away for the day at a conference and so I missed all the fun.

We will be having more fun today and tomorrow with our Easter activities. Don't forget to send in your child's hat for tomorrow. If the weather is too bad we will hold our parade inside, hopefully we will have a parade outside.

The holiday task!

The task for the Reception class will be keeping a weather chart following up from work we have carried out in class. The task for Y1 and Y2 will be sent tomorrow. The cook book made by the Reception classes last term is still available if anyone would like a copy. The work completed by the Key Stage One children last term is on display. Please come and have a look.

Holidays

We have been advised to remind parents about the taking of holidays in term time. Please remember that there are no additional days for holidays but any requested absences are at the Head teacher's discretion unless a parent is in the armed forces when up to 10 days are allowed when that parent is on leave from active service. When deciding on whether to sanction leave for other children we take into account achievement levels and attendance. We also must have at least two weeks notice.

I also need to remind parents about toys. If toys do not fit onto the child's palm and also in their tray the toy cannot be brought to school. School does not take any responsibility for these toys. If they are lost or broken we cannot replace them

Happy Easter

I would like to take this opportunity to wish all parents a peaceful break and I do hope we get some sunshine. Take the opportunity to enjoy your children and do things together. Talk to each other and have fun! Read books, go for walks, play games, get messy, build things, make things, remember your children are small for a very short space of time. Don't ever think "I wish I had....." , do it!

Thank you to all staff and parents for their support and hard work.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 150-200 words.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Publisher offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 75-125 words.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content to your newsletter.

Think about your article and ask yourself if the picture supports or enhances the message you're trying to convey. Avoid selecting images that appear to be out of context.

Microsoft Publisher includes thousands of clip art images from which you can choose and import into your newsletter. There are also several tools you can use to draw shapes and symbols.

Once you have chosen an image, place it close to the article. Be sure to place the caption of the image near the image.

Organization

This would be a good place to insert a short paragraph about your organization. It might include the purpose of the organization, its mission, founding date, and a brief history. You could also include a brief list of the types of products, services, or programs your organization offers, the geographic area covered (for example, western U.S. or European markets), and a profile of the types of customers or members served.

It would also be useful to include a contact name for readers who want more information about the organization.

Back Page Story Headline

This story can fit 175-225 words.

If your newsletter is folded and mailed, this story will appear on the back. So, it's a good idea to make it easy to read at a glance.

A question and answer session is a good way to quickly capture the attention of readers. You can either compile questions that you've received since the last edition or you can summarize some generic questions that are frequently asked about your organization.

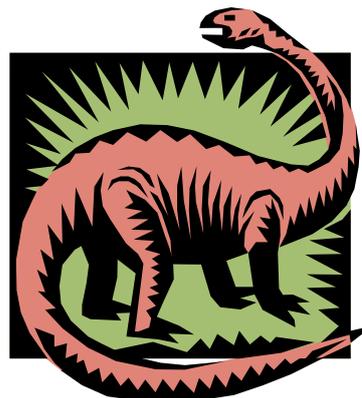

A listing of names and titles of managers in your organization is a good way to give your newsletter a personal touch. If your organization is small, you may want to list the names of all employees.

If you have any prices of standard products or services, you can include a listing of those here. You may want to refer your readers to any other forms of communication that you've created for your organization.

You can also use this space to remind readers to mark their calendars for a regular event, such as a breakfast meeting for vendors every third Tuesday of the month, or a biannual charity auction.

If space is available, this is a good place to insert a clip art image or some other graphic.
